“ I miss you aunt Lori. You would call the house when i was a teenager and start talking and think I was my mom and then say put your mom on the phone and we would all laugh about it. I used to come to your house as a teenager and ask how much trouble I was in before going home if I was out later then supposed to be. We use to sat on the phone talking about everything and anything late at night. I stayed with you when I came back from New York. When I would come up to see you we would go to the Chinese restaurant and eat or I would go get food from where ever you wanted to eat. We would go junking or thrift store shopping just to find stuff we really didn't need. I could go on and on but cant see from the tears. You will always be in my heart I love you. Until we meet again. Love your niece Misty
