“ Though I only had the pleasure to work with Bri for two years we became really close for our love of animals and music. He also was the person who tested all my products I would make and we made a great pair working together. The two weeks he had missed from work made our hole team feel like a big part of us was missing and I can't tell u how much he will be missed when it comes around to chiefs season and no one will have a chiefs Santa hat like his. He was definitely one of a kind and a very kind person. Gina
