Tribute Wall

“ Since high school Chris has had a special place in my heart. He was the first person to accuse me of being a geek...a compliment for sure. His easy nature, the way his face lit up, the way his arms opened each time we met again...these things I will surely miss when I am among the Folkers.

Chris, I am so grateful that we were able to see you recently and get one last hug. You are so loved and you will be missed. Your family will be sad. We promise to comfort them when we can - and when you have the energy, send them each a sign that you are fine - their unquestioning faith will aid in your delivery.

Blessings my Friend ~ Godspeed
