From the family:

“Our mother had a life that many would envy. Unlike her siblings, she lived and traveled in the United States and Europe. She was strong and self-sufficient raising her children often on her own. She had many occupations, she started with LPN and retired from the retail industry.

She enjoyed a good laugh and her favorite holiday was Halloween. She loved little children, they always put a smile on her face. She loved, was loved and will be missed by many.”
