“Daddy,

I love and miss you every single day! Today I seen mommy she is really sick. But I still don't think she likes me dad. I have never felt pain like this. It is not going away. I don't know who is going to buy my socks, or how to make my shoes that are too big fit. I do not know where to go anymore, I was always afraid of everything and crying all the time you went everywhere with me and did everything you could for me. You always showed up where I was to make sure I was ok. You went places and stayed the night with me so that I wasn't alone when I was having my break down. I am sorry that when I finally moved out for real, I went wild I hope that you know nothing I have done reflects who you were as a father. I am so happy that we had such a great father daughter relationship. I went to comprehensive the other day and I talked to the lady about you being gone and she said, "wow I hope you are ok I know that you and your father was close I remember him coming up here and bringing you clothes" Dad to know that other people outside of our family could see how much you loved and took care of me touches my heart because no matter what that is how people who know and do not know you will always remember you.

“ It's hard to believe that you've been gone a year now there's not a week that goes by that I don't think about you and cry I never guessed it would be this hard to deal with the loss of someone you used to love especially after being away from that person for over 20 years but she was my first love and the father of my children and it's something that I will always cherish but it doesn't cover the fact that it hurts my heart that you're not here to protect our babies all our babies every single eight of them I'll be seeing you on the other side real soon and you will have to explain to me what happened that they that day they found you just know we will be arguing for a while love you Gary
