She had a deep faith in her religion; she was part of the Restoration Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

She loved photography, nature, fishing, bird watching, and spending time with her family and friends. Gloria often had a good joke to tell to turn someone's day around. She had plenty of stories to tell if you had time to sit and listen.

She attempted to retire multiple times, most recently from the Independence School District where she was a bus attendant.

She will be greatly missed by those that loved her.
