“ As a kid growing up on the same street, I remember Grant being a great friend to my older brother Gary. He was known on the block as the "great protector" in our neighborhood, always willing to step in for his friends when he felt someone was being picked on. As kids, to be friends with Grant was reassurance someone always had our backs. For my brother growing up Grant was one of his best friends...a friendship that continued until Grant's recent passing. My prayers go out to Grant's family, and all those who cherished his friendship. Rest in peace Grant. May you continue to watch over us from above, as you did during your short time here.
