“ It taken me awhile to come to write because there are really no words to comfort all that is trying to adjust and wrap their minds and emotions around the loss of a good man who was a son, dad, brother and grandpa. I have many memories of Mark, as we have known each other and was married for 12 years had two children together almost 43 years ago. There was nothing Mark couldn't do. His brain was always working on the next project always working. The past 4 months his determination didn't linger and he fought a good fight against the cancer. After all of his treatments he was determined to drive even with being paralyzed. Within a week of getting out of the hospital he had it figured out and made it happen! He and Jessica worked hard on getting the barn (as he called it) prepared for him to be able to come home and stay when he was able to. I was very proud of him and thankful for the time we were able to share with the grandson's. I will always love Mark and I have missed calling him on my drive to work. But thankful he no longer is suffering and that he was able to spend the last 4 with his family who he loves dearly. My prayers are with everyone.
