“ To say that I will miss you is an understatement. My life was forever changed with your presence and forever changed with your absence. There is an emptiness that will not be filled until we meet again and we will meet again. I know you are without pain and I thank God for that. Remember how much I love you and know that I always will.

“ Roger was a teacher, a preacher, a dad, a lover, a friend, and a servant. He was the life of a party and the one you turned to when you were in need. He would listen and never judge, he offered help before you even knew you needed it. He lived a way that was bigger than life and he did it his way. He lived a life of ups and downs and always knew God would see him through. He thanked God for the rain and the sunshine, the good times and the bad. He was charismatic and made you feel as if you knew him all of your life. All who met him instantly liked him ( you never really had a choice not to). He armed himself with a quick wit, wild stories, and an infectious smile. I'm so glad I had the opportunity to know him, work with him, and to truly have had such a friend.
