“ I met Ron through my mother who was dating his brother Rick. We were at their parents home playing volleyball. Ron went to the net to deflect a spike from the other side when the ball glanced his middle finger on his right hand. It immediately swollen, & later when to the ER only to discover one of the joints were shattered. For 4 weeks he had to keep it elevated. His finger was splinted and the other digits naturally relaxed leaving the middle finger standing alone. It looked as though he was flipping the bird to everyone when he drove down the road.
