“ Ryan was my boyfriend years ago. We didn't date for very long but remained friends. He was so sweet... he would drive me to shows and help me carry my luggage. He had a blanket made for me for my birthday. He was not the kind of person to yell or get angry. I always picture his face with a smile. I saw him just before he passed.

We hadn't seen each other in years. I asked him how things were going. He very honestly said I wish things were better. I told him I was having a hard time too and we exchanged numbers and hugs. And he bought my drink. I can't believe that was the last time I'll ever see him. RIP, friend. I wish the world had more people like you... it would be a better place
