“ as the grandchild, Saphira Lynn Hull i never did get to meet her my father Samual Hull who was the oldest out of all of her children and the only birth son of hers. I never got to meet her my father always said that i saw her when i was a baby but you know the baby years are years one person who will never know them... i went to the service thing my aunt sara held for her... i regret what i said to my dad that same morning of the service which was "Why do i need to go to a funeral of someone who was never in my life?" when i had searched up my full name for the first time since 5th grade this appeared a very beautiful women in deed and what now holds all of her prized moments are her children and cat, Spots he is doing great with us currently sometimes i think it was a little bit of perfect timing with a saying of you loose one, you loose another but you gain the first one back, July 27 of 2021, My fathers cat mogwai passed away but then when i lost my grandmother stephanie my dad took her cat in to live with us and spots loves to cuddle with me i kinda thing my dads cat mogwai and my grandmother have some sort of spirit controlling that cat because mogwai was never to fond of me and so it was like that for the whole time we had spots until recently he started warming up to me coming into my room at night and laying next to me... my dad also always said that the initials of SLH ran in the family sonya, sara, sam, stephanie, Steve, Saphira...
