

Terrence Grant Weaver

February 17, 1970 - December 19, 2017

TERRENCE GRANT WEAVER

Terrence Weaver, 47, of K.C. MO, affectionately known as “Yard Ball” or “Tiger” got his wings when he died, on December 19, 2017. He was an only child born on February 17, 1970 to Jeanette and Dr. Fred Weaver in K.C. MO. Jeanette was Terry’s foundation. She was his rock and he was hers. He was brilliant, especially when it came to musical artists and lyrics. He was an outstanding poet. He could have a political conversation that would knock the socks off his opponents. His greatest traits were his generosity and his love for people. Terry would literally give the shirt off his back to help someone out. Terrence had a special longtime love and support, Anna Cordell. Terrence will always be remembered as a true friend and confidant. He was only a phone call away and will truly be missed by all who knew him. He would not have made it without aid from his friends, Frankel’s, Hout’s, McClelland’s, Murphy’s, Van Heren’s Weaver’s and many others. Additional survivors include his uncle and aunt, Pat and Kathleen Meier. He was preceded in death by his beloved grandmother, Marie Mijares, and his aunt, Linda Mijares; cousin, Sean Kinchloe. A Celebration of Life gathering will be held in May, 2018 at Roanoke Park, K.C. MO. Online condolences and messages can be expressed at reflectionsmemorialservices.com. 816-561-0101.

“ Terry Weaver Skater, punk, poet, telecommunications enthusiast. A truer more loyal friend than any of us deserved. Keeper of the faith, defender of the cause, elevator of humankind and the last true Yardball. He will be missed ~ Matt McClelland

“ This is Terry's dad. My favorite memory was when Terrence spent the school year at M.U., where he walked to preschool and around the campus. During this this time his good heart bloomed. His struggle grew. Especially later after several surgeries and drug treatment therapy. I took him with me to martial art classes my fellow students and friends liked my son and treated him very kindly. I will miss him in ways I can't explain...

Sincerely Dr. Fred Weaver

“ *Our hearts ache
Our souls are one
Our love for Terrence will live on*

Jeanette, we will be forever grateful that you birthed a special friend, a son, a brother, a teacher, a wanderer...

*Still cannot believe Terrence is gone
He will always be remembered
Love, peace, and serenity
